YOUR RIGHTS TO CONTINUE INSURANCE: FAQS FOR SURVIVORS AND/OR DEPENDENTS WITH OTHER LIFE EVENTS

In an event such as death of an employee or certain life events like divorce, a dependent child getting married and/or a dependent child turning age 26, COBRA allows for continuation of coverage for a maximum of 36 months. If you choose COBRA continuation coverage, you'll pay the full cost of your premium(s) directly to the Employees Retirement System of Texas (ERS).

How much does coverage under COBRA cost? Please see the COBRA rates on the other side.

How do I sign up and pay for coverage under COBRA? Once you or your agency notifies ERS of a change in status, ERS mails the COBRA Election Form to the address we have on file. To continue or reinstate coverage, please send your payment with the COBRA Election Form. Make the check or money order payable to "GBP." Please note: No bills or reminder notices will be sent. Payments are due on the first of each month.

Who should I notify of an address change? Notify ERS of changes in your address and the addresses of your dependents.

How long do I have to sign up for COBRA? You have 105 days from the coverage termination date to enroll in COBRA. Please note: COBRA is a continuation of coverage. The timeframe in which you enroll will determine the premium needed to continue your and/or your dependent's coverage. COBRA coverage is always backdated to the first of the month following the coverage termination date. This means you'll be responsible for all monthly premiums incurred within the 105 days, before coverage can be reinstated.

Will I get new insurance cards? Yes, the insurance plan will send the cards approximately 15 days from the date we receive your completed form and payment. Any claims for services after the COBRA enrollment date must be filed using your new member ID.

Can I add a dependent to my insurance? You can add any eligible dependent during Summer Enrollment or if you have a qualifying life event (QLE), such as birth. You must inform ERS within 31 days of the QLE to add the eligible dependent. You will have to provide documentation proving that the dependent is eligible for coverage.

My child is disabled and is turning age 26. Is COBRA my only option? If your dependent child is disabled, you may be able to keep them covered. To apply, complete the Application to Request or Renew Health Coverage for a Disabled Dependent Child. This form can be found at <https://ers.texas.gov/Active-Employees/Forms>. Send the completed form to ERS for review up to 90 days prior to your dependent child's coverage expiration date, and we will notify you of our decision.

I am currently enrolled in Consumer Directed HealthSelect<sup>SM</sup>. Can I still contribute to my health savings account (HSA)? COBRA participants are not eligible for the state's contribution to their HSA. You will only pay the premium for the high-deductible health plan plus the 2% administrative fee to ERS. You can still contribute to your HSA, but you will make your contributions directly to Optum Bank on a post-tax basis. You will also be responsible for any administrative fees to Optum Bank.

What if I am hired by an employer that offers Texas Employees Group Benefits Program (GBP) insurance?

You must pay the full COBRA rate for the month when you begin work. If you do not pay the full COBRA rate for the month when you return to work, all coverage will be cancelled. If your health coverage is cancelled, you and your dependent(s) will be subject to any applicable health coverage waiting period from your hire date.

I am an unmarried child. Can I continue insurance after COBRA ends? Yes. After 36 months of insurance under COBRA, you may extend coverage as a "Former COBRA Unmarried Child." You must remain unmarried for this continuation.

Can I continue insurance after COBRA ends? Yes. You can ask your health, dental and/or vision plan administrator about a private policy after your insurance under COBRA ends.

Marketplace and Other Coverage Options

There may be other more affordable coverage options for you and your family through the Health Insurance Marketplace, Medicaid or another group health plan (under a spouse or parent) through what's called a "special enrollment event." You can find out if you and/or your dependent children qualify for low-cost coverage from Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) by visiting: <https://www.medicaid.gov/chip/index.html>.

What is the Health Insurance Marketplace? The Marketplace offers a "one-stop shopping" experience to find and compare private health insurance options. You could be eligible for a tax credit that lowers your monthly premiums and cost-sharing right away. To access the Marketplace, visit: www.HealthCare.gov.

When can I enroll in Marketplace coverage? Losing coverage through your employer opens up a "special enrollment" period. You have 60 days from your coverage termination date to enroll in Marketplace coverage. Otherwise, you'll have to wait to enroll during the "open enrollment" period. If you decide to enroll in Marketplace coverage, you cannot switch back to COBRA under any circumstances. You can switch to Marketplace coverage once you've exhausted your coverage under COBRA, or your coverage ends due to a special event. This opens up an additional "special enrollment" period and allows you to enroll outside of "open enrollment."

Please note: If you terminate your coverage under COBRA early without a qualifying special event, you'll have to wait to enroll in a Marketplace plan during their next "open enrollment" period, and could end up without any health coverage.
